Annual Report on the working of the United Provinces Provincial Museum, Lucknow, for the year ending 31st March, 1937

1. Committee of Management.—There was no change in the personnel of the Committee appointed by G. O. no. 294-G/XV—294, dated the 16th April, 1935. At the close of the year, however, the Committee suffered by the death of Rai Bahadur Lala Sita Ram, B.A., M.R.A.S., who was a member of the Managing Committee for over 25 years. The office of the President was held by Mr. G. K. Darling, C.I.E., I.C.S., from 1st April to 15th October, 1936; by Mr. A. Monro, C.I.E., I.C.S., from 16th to 23rd October, 1936; and by the undersigned from 24th October, 1936 onwards, till the close of the year. Rai Bahadur Prayag Dayal remained Curator and Secretary throughout the year.

Two meetings of the Managing Committee were held on 1st August, 1936, and 1st February, 1937, respectively, for the transaction of important business.

2. Working of the Museum.—To supplement the exhibits of archaeological and numismatic interest which had been received for the United Provinces Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, certain casts of coins were re-electroplated and re-arranged for display at the Exhibition. A fresh estampage of Asoka's inscription at Sarnath was mounted on a cylindrical card-board column of the girth of the brilliant sandstone column which stands at Sarnath. A few glazed stands were lent to the Exhibition for the display of paintings.

To the Government High School, Rae Bareilly, the Lyall Collegiate School, Balrampur, and the K. G. E. High School, Utraula (Gonda), estampages of inscriptions were supplied direct by the Museum and electroplated casts of coins through the artist. To facilitate their study a "Descriptive List of Coins and Inscriptions suitable for use in the teaching of history" has been compiled by the Curator in collaboration with Dr. Radha Kumud Mookerji and Mr. Powell-Price. The book has been printed by the Superintendent, Printing and Stationery, United Provinces, and copies are available at Re.1-2 each. The Museum casts of coins which now cover eleven boxes and estampages of important inscriptions were lent to the Inspector of Schools, Fyzabad Division, for purposes of demonstration at the Refresher Course in history held at Naini Tal.

The Curator in response to an invitation from the Capital Club, Lucknow, delivered an interesting lecture on the "Coins of Lucknow" before a distinguished gathering on 16th September, 1936. He attended the annual meeting of the Numismatic Society of India held at Udaipur in November, 1936, and read a paper on "Unpublished Balashahi coins". The Curator also attended the annual Literary Conference of the Hindustani Academy, United Provinces, held at Lucknow and read a paper on the "Coinage of Allahabad". This has been published in the Quarterly Journal of the Hindustani Academy.

As Honorary Secretary of the United Provinces Coin Committee, the Curator deciphered 2,613 coins discovered in the Province and submitted recommendations for their distribution to various coin cabinets. A report on the working of the Coin Committee is incorporated with this report as required by the rules regarding the disposal of coins found as treasure trove.

The acquisitions to different sections number 119 and may be classified as follows :

Archaeology	27
Numismatics	74
Natural History	4
Ethnography	12
Total				119

3. Archaeology.—Towards the close of the year a tiny brass image of exquisite fineness and of absorbing iconographic interest was secured at a nominal cost. This represents a four-armed goddess of Tibetan style seated cross-legged over a human corpse lying on its back. The goddess is bedecked with a crown and wears ornamental jewellery consisting of ear-rings of superb workmanship, a beaded necklace and plain bracelets. The ends of her Sari knotted at the waist fall in graceful folds over the feet. The upper raised hands hold objects resembling a noose and a book while the lower ones exhibit the Varada and the Abhaya mudrās, respectively. This will be published in the Journal of the United Provinces Historical Society.

Among sculptures may be mentioned a fragmentary piece in buff-coloured sandstone showing in high relief a couple of Vidyadharas flying with a single heavy garland held in their hands and another a fragmentary capital showing a horse-headed male and an ordinary female standing together side by side.

Next in importance come the twenty clay sealings excavated at Nalanda in Patna District in the year 1932-33 which have been presented by the Archaeological Department of the Government of India. These sealings represent typical specimens of the two varieties unearthed there. One set bears an inscription "Śrī Nālanda Mahāvihāre....." and the other the Buddhist creed formula in Pāla characters of about the eighth century A.D. The former was originally affixed over palm leaf documents tied with strips of palm leaf and the latter on religious grounds was entombed in the built up relic chambers of the various Samādhis of the Buddhist monks.

To the Archaeological Department we stand further indebted for the loan of a collection of duplicate antiquities excavated at Mohenjo-daro in the Larkana District of Sind. These wonderful discoveries have lately aroused world-wide interest in the pre-historic history of India and copiously illustrate the advanced Indus valley civilization of the fourth and third millenia B.C. The antiquities chiefly comprise faience seals with the unicorn motif, sealings in faience and terra-cottas and a variety of decorated and plain pottery, shells and beads, etc. which have been fully dealt with and profusely illustrated in the monumental work on the Mohenjo-daro and Indus valley civilization by Sir John Marshall published in 1931. This work will also be made readily available to students who, it is expected, will come in increasing numbers to study these wonderful relics of the past.

4. Numismatics.—Seventy-four coins mostly of the Muhammadan period were added to the Coin Cabinet. Of these 12 were gold, 55 silver and 7 billon and with the exception of 2 gold and 5 silver coins all came as a gift. (Vide Appendix B).

Among important accessions may be mentioned 6 gold coins of later Kushanas discovered in Tahsil Hathras of the Aligarh District, a Nisār of Shāhjahān, two small denominations of the rupees of Akbar and Shāh 'Ālam II and three small denominations of the silver issues of Naṣīru-d-dīn Haider and Wājīd 'Alī Shāh. The rarities include issues of Jahandār Shāh (mint Gwālīor and Itāwa), Muḥammad Shāh (mint Farrukhābād), 'Ālamgir II (mint Mahindrapur) and Shāh 'Ālam II (mint Bindraban-Muminābād).

A detailed and classified list of all the coins is being published separately for distribution to Treasure Trove Officers and Museums. One hundred and twenty coins were received from the Government for sale and two hundred and nineteen duplicate coins were sold to the public for Rs.214-2.

5. Report on the working of the United Provinces Coin Committee.—There was no change in the personnel of the Coin Committee which consisted of (1) Mr. H. Bomford, C.I.E., I.C.S., (2) Mr. Panna Lall, I.C.S., (3) Dr. Radha Kumud Mukerji, M.A., PH.D., and (4) Rai Bahadur Prayag Dayal, M.R.A.S., Secretary.

Eighteen finds of coins from various districts in the Province which were examined by the Secretary came from Moradabad (3), Aligarh (2), Cawnpore (2), Sitapur, Allahabad, Unao (3), Etah, Rae Bareilly, Almora (2), Mirzapur and Lucknow districts and consisted of 6 gold, 713 silver, 1,624 copper and 270 billon coins. They represented the issues of Kushana rulers, Sultāns of Delhi, Kings of Jaunpur, Mughal Emperors and a few miscellaneous coins. They were recommended for acquisition and distribution to various collections as under :

Among the important acquisitions may be mentioned 6 gold coins of later Kushanas, a few perfect specimens of King

Bhoja Deva of Qanaui and the following coins of the Mughal Emperors :

Jahāndār Shāh, mint Gwālīor.

‘Ālamgīr II, mint Mahindrapur.

‘Shāh ‘Ālam II, mint Bindrāban-Muminābād.

6. Natural History—The young rhinoceros from Nepal, named Patrick, who died in the Prince of Wales Zoological Gardens, Lucknow, on 12th November, 1933, and was sent for mounting to Messrs. Van Ingen and Van Ingen, has—thanks to the skill of the Taxidermists—now obtained a fresh and a longer lease of public interest. The excellent modelling faithfully depicts the remarkable physical development he had attained at the comparatively early age of about 6 years when he met his death. Patrick has been displayed in a magnificent teak wood show-case and forms one of the most attractive exhibits in the natural history gallery.

Two birds—a Victoria crowned pigeon (Goura Victoriae Fraser) and a horned Tragopan (Coriornis Satyra-Luin)—were received as a gift from the Prince of Wales Zoological Gardens, to which we are indebted for many like favours in the past. Our thanks also go to the Curator, Central Museum, Nagpur, for presenting a specimen of marine fish—Ray. A duplicate specimen of an ordinary hill pheasant (monāl) was presented by us to the Patna Museum.

Towards the close of the year the skin of a male Yak was secured but it could not be set up for want of funds in the Museum budget.

7. Ethnography—Of the twelve objects purchased for this section, three represent metal images of gods meant for worship, viz., a five-headed brass image of Śiva seated cross-legged on a lotus, a copper image of Viṣṇu in his man-lion incarnation seated with Lakshmi on his left thigh and a copper stand containing representations of the sacred bull Nandi and other gods. The most interesting piece, however, is a copper panel ($9\frac{1}{2}'' \times 6\frac{3}{4}''$), similar to the two acquired in 1934-35, which depicts the marriage ceremony of Śiva and Pārvatī. Right in the centre on a platform reached by steps and under an ornamental canopy we notice Śiva four-armed, holding Damru and trident, and Pārvatī seated opposite helped by her father Himāchal, performing the Pāṇigrahaṇa. Viṣṇu and Brahmā with their usual attributes appear standing to right and left of the divine couple witnessing the function. They are followed by numerous persons, males and females in separate groups, approaching with offerings of garlands, flowers and sweets, etc. In the fore-ground below the steps, Rishis are busy performing Havana and other Vedic rites. At each of the two lower extreme ends are an incense burner and a large water vessel.

Next comes a brass ornamental eight-sided box probably intended for keeping materials of worship. This is profusely incised with miniature arches containing Siva lingams which are being worshipped by various deities like Ganesha, Hanu-mān and Sugriva, etc. The lowest band contains a vivid representation of a river, possibly the Ganges, at Benares where Siva worship predominates and where brass workers are used to this class of work. The lid also contains a repetition of the above designs and an inscription in Devanagari (Sri Jai Rām Jai Rām.....). The remaining objects do not call for any special mention.

8. Picture Gallery and Library—On account of paucity of funds only a couple of paintings were added to the Picture Gallery. One depicts the Rās dance of Nārada on a moonlit night. Nārada is dancing in centre holding a Vina in his out-stretched left hand. A number of other persons, both males and females wearing gorgeous dresses are dancing around in a circle. They play on various musical instruments such as Narsinghā, Turhi, Bānsuri, Sitar, Pakhāwaj and Khanjri. It is a fine specimen of the Pahari school of about the 19th century A.D. The other painting of the same class and period shows Radha seated on a cushioned wicker stool (modhā). The thoughtful expression, intent looks and the position of her hands show that she is busy in a talk on some important topic with a lady seated in the foreground.

Excluding ordinary periodicals and journals, the following publications were acquired for the Library:

Andrews, F. H.—Descriptive Catalogue of Antiquities recovered by Sir A. Stein during his explorations in Central Asia, Kansu and Eastern Iran, Delhi, 1935.

Buhler, J. G.—The Indian Sect of the Jainas, London, 1936.

Chanda, Ramprasada.—Medieval Indian Sculpture in the British Museum, London, 1936.

Gangoli, O. C.—Love-Poems in Hindi, Volume 4 of Little Book on Asiatic Art, Calcutta, 1936.

Halder, A. K.—The Rubāyat of Omar Khayyam with 12 illustrations and Foreword by E. B. Havell, Allahabad, 1931.

Mookerji, R. K.—Hindu Civilization, London, 1936.

9. Visitors.—There was an appreciable increase in the number of visitors to the Museum specially during the months of November, December and January on account of the influx of visitors to Lucknow in connexion with the United Provinces Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition of 1936-37. The total number recorded by our Turnstile was 248,994 as against 208,243 for the previous year. The daily average for the year was 682.

Prominent among distinguished visitors were Major-General Rama Shumsher Jang Bahadur, Rana of Nepal; Rao Bahadur K. N. Dikshit, M.A., Director General of Archaeology in India; Dr. Eraist Cohn Wiener, Director of Bot. Department, Baroda; and Dr. Stella Kramrisch of Calcutta.

Among scholars from foreign countries were Dr. Hermann Goetz, PH.D., a distinguished German Scholar of Leyden; Arch Bishop R. Yusawa of Japan; Walter P. Lewisohn, Archaeologist, U. S. A. and Mr. G. K. George of New York, U. S. A.

10. Finances.—Receipts from the sale of Museum publications, duplicate coins, photographs, estampages of inscriptions and other petty items amounted to Rs.362 against Rs.193 for the previous year. The increase may be attributed to a larger sale of duplicate coins. The expenditure, however, was Rs.16,830, against Rs.19,350 for the year 1935-36. The decrease is chiefly due to the reversion to the normal budget which excluded the item of Rs.2,500, sanctioned for a specified purpose in the previous year.

11. General.—The Curator, Rai Bahadur Prayag Dayal, was out on tour for about a couple of months in all. His visit to Agra, Benares and Hardwar resulted in the acquisition of objects of archaeological and ethnographical interest mentioned in the report. He attended meetings of the Managing Committee of the Fyzabad and the Muttra Museums and the Annual Meeting of the Numismatic Society of India. He inspected a dozen sculptures discovered in the interior of Gorakhpur District and submitted a report to Government on their archaeological importance and acquisition for the Provincial Museum, Lucknow. He passed the first proof of his "Catalogue of the Coins of Oudh" and has in hand the cataloguing of two other series and the re-arrangement of the Epigraphical Court. His services to the Museum and in the cause of learning generally have been invaluable and will, I hope, remain available for some years more.

G. M. HARPER, I.C.S.,

Commissioner and President,

15th July, 1937.

Annual Report on the working of the United Provinces
Provincial Museum, Lucknow, for the year ending 31st March, 1940.

1. Committee of Management—The Managing Committee of the Provincial Museum, Lucknow, was reconstituted under G. O. no. 252/XV—224-1937, dated the 8th May, 1939, for a further term of two years with effect from 1st April, 1939. Among the new members were Rai Krishna Das, Shri R. S. Pandit, Rai Bahadur Braj Mohan Vyas, and Mr. Muhammad Wasim. Later on in September, 1939, the names of Dr. Panna Lall, D.LITT., C.I.E., I.C.S., and Dr. Radha Kumud Mookerji, M.A., PH.D., were also added as members of the Committee under G. O. no. 2331/XV—224-37, dated the 9th September, 1939. The office of the President was held by Mr. G. M. Harper, I.C.S., Commissioner, Lucknow Division, up to 5th November, 1939, and thereafter by the undersigned till the close of the year. Rai Bahadur Prayag Dayal remained Curator and Secretary for the first nine months, after which he proceeded on leave with effect from 5th January, 1940, handing over the curatorship to his successor, Mr. V. S. Agrawala, M.A., who officiated as Curator and Secretary till the close of the year.

Two meetings of the Managing Committee were held on 26th August, 1939, and 2nd February, 1940, respectively, at which important business was transacted.

2. Working of the Museum—Thorough overhauling was done in the Archaeological Section of the Museum, which is housed in the Kaisarbagh building. The exhibits of the Jaina and Buddhist sections were classified and rearranged, after an interval of many years, in the central hall and an adjacent room, and new stands were provided for them. An illustrated guide-book to this section of the Museum was also prepared. This is now under publication in the Government Press. Our thanks are due to Mr. V. S. Agrawala, who accomplished the dual task of renovating the section and preparing the guide-book during his period of training prior to formal appointment as Curator. The completion of the labelling and provision of new showcases will take some time yet. In the northern wing of the Kaisarbagh building important structural alterations had been proposed in accordance with the recommendations of Sir Leonard Wooley with a view to improve the lighting and accommodation. It is a matter of pleasure that the Government were pleased to allot money for the work during the year and most of it was executed by the Public Works Department before the end of the year. It is hoped that the remaining items, namely the installation of sky-lights in the rooms and corridor and the opening up of windows on the east side of the hall, will be taken up next year. The special grant of Rs.1,500 placed at the disposal of the Museum authorities through the Public Works Department was utilized for the arrangement of the new north wing, which is being converted into a mediaeval gallery to accommodate the Brahmanical sculptures and inscriptions. The work was still in progress at the close of the year. It is expected that the section will be opened for the public next year. Improvements to the Lal Baradari building were also carried out in the shape of the reflooring and replastering of the basement rooms so as to make them dampproof. These are used partly as godowns and partly for the reptilian gallery.

The completed portion of the Archaeological Section in Kaisarbagh was thrown open to the public from November, 1939. The Government had been pleased to sanction the appointment of one jamadar and three peons for that section. The two buildings are situated more than a quarter of a mile apart and it is considered essential that a custodian, to remain on the spot, should be appointed for the section. A proposal has already been submitted to Government in this connection.

As usual the sets of electroplated casts of coins and estampages of inscriptions along with photographs were lent to the District Board Exhibitions held at Rae Bareilly and Gonda. Electroplated casts of certain coins were supplied to the Government Training School, Agra, by the artist, and the estampages of certain inscriptions were supplied to the Raj Rishi College, Alwar, by the Museum.

With a view to extending the scope of facilities thus provided for the teaching of history, the list of electroplated casts of coins and estampages of inscriptions in the Provincial Museum was brought up to date and printed. Through the kindness of the Director of Public Instruction, United Provinces, it has been circulated to various educational institutions. It is hoped that the teachers of history in schools will take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded.

Besides examining coins offered by the public, the Curator as Honorary Secretary of the United Provinces Coin Committee deciphered 4,360 coins discovered in the Province as treasure trove and submitted recommendations for their distribution to various coin cabinets. A report on the working of the United Provinces Coin Committee is incorporated in this report.

The acquisitions to different sections are as follows :

Archaeology	51
Numismatics	308
Natural History	10
Ethnography	13
Picture Gallery	15

The Curator attended the Session of the All-India Oriental Conference held at Tirupati in Madras Presidency in the month of March, 1940, and participated in the meetings of the various sections.

3. Archaeology—In all 51 objects were acquired for the Archaeological Section, including sculptures, terracottas, metal images, inscriptions, and plaster casts, as shown in Appendix B. The important images are those of Siva bearing an inscription of about the 8th century, of four-fold Jaina Tirhamkaras, technically known as Pratimā sarvato-bhadrikā or chaturmukhī, and of Revanta, the hunter. Nine terracottas were purchased at Mathura. These are made of hard-baked black clay and represent the female type connected with the tradition of the great mother goddess worship. The male figures are conspicuous by their foreign ethnic features, namely short beards, peaked cheeks and bicornate turbans, and may have been the result of the Iranian influx into India witnessed in the post-Maurya periods especially with the advent of the Iranian Sakas. It is more probable that the people worshipping Iranian gods and goddesses introduced with them the worship of their national goddess Anahita or Nanā, the Lady wearing a crown of stars. The so-called mother goddess terracottas of black clay may thus have been inter-related with the special group of male figures showing the foreigners.

The metal objects include four inscribed copper plates belonging to the time of the kings of Kumaun in the 15th and 16th centuries. The plates were acquired through the kindness of the Deputy Commissioner, Almora, and are believed to have been deposited in the Almora Kutchery. The first plate, dated 1351 (A.D. 1429), belongs to the time of Vikramachand, the second, dated 1399 (A.D. 1477), to his nephew and successor, Raja Bhāratichand, the third, dated 1436 (A.D. 1514), to Raja Bhishmachand, and the last one in which the date is obliterated, to Raja Kalyānchand. These kings belong to the Chand dynasty of Kumaun. The places are inscribed in Devanagari script and a fuller article on them will be published in the Journal of the United Provinces Historical Society. The collection of the original specimens in the Mohenjodaro gallery was happily augmented this year by the addition of ten plaster casts obtained by purchase through the kindness of the Director General of Archaeology in India. In this group are included the famous figures of a dancing girl wearing profuse bangles, a bearded male figure of a noble man with trefoil patterns on the drapery, a limestone head of a bearded male figure with plaited hair, a headless seated figure of alabaster, and another figure in a half-kneeling position. Thus the well-known statuary from the Indus valley is placed on view in the Museum collection. Another remarkable cast is that of a ring-stone from Taxila decorated with a circular band of figures of the earth goddess alternating with honey-suckle plants. Ring-stones have also been discovered from Mathura and Kosam and other sites and a complete study of their nature and purpose is yet a desideratum.

In the epigraphic section special mention should be made of the loan from the Director General of Archaeology in India of a fine Persian inscription originally displayed in the Taj Museum at Agra. The details of the epigraph are shown in Appendix B. From the same source were obtained two sanads, one issued under the seal of Abdul Haq, a devoted servant of Shāh Alamgir (Aurangzeb), and the other under the seal of Badru-l-Islam in the reign of Emperor Muhammad Shah in the year 1740-41 A. D. Another remarkable specimen transferred from the Taj Museum to Lucknow is an exceptionally fine head of a Buddha image of more than life size belonging to the Gupta period. It belongs to the Mathura school and acquaints us with a new quality of its art achievements. But perhaps from the point of artistic excellence and antiquarian interest the best acquisition of the year may be said to be a bronze Buddha head with gilt surface ($8\frac{1}{2}$ " high) purchased from Azamgarh. It is a genuine find discovered in the course of digging in village Kotria, tahsil Muhammadabad, district Azamgarh. The head is cast in the best traditions of the Gupta art and ranks first amongst the limited number of bronzes discovered in our Province of so early a date.

4. Numismatics—Three hundred and eight coins were added to the Coin Cabinet of the Provincial Museum, Lucknow, during the year, 10 being gold, 189 silver, 8 billon, and 101 copper. Of them, 2 gold, 2 silver, and 2 copper, were purchased from the Museum funds and the rest were received as gifts under the treasure trove rules from the various governments with the exception of one gold coin which was exchanged with the Indian Museum, Calcutta, and 5 billon and 21 copper coins presented by Mr. J. C. Powell-Price, M.A., I.E.S.

The gold coins comprise 2 issues of Gajapati Pagoda, one of Ibrahim Shah of Jaunpur, one of Muhammad Shah, mint Ilahabad, 1138-8, one of Gupta King Nara Baladitya, one of an unknown king Prāṇa Nārāyaṇa, 3 of Aurangzeb (of Surat, Kambayat, and Mu'azzamabad mints, respectively, and obtained as treasure trove along with that of Prāṇa Nārāyaṇa from Bhatipur in district Hamirpur) and 1 of Ghiyas Shah Khalji (mint Malwa, 895 H).

The majority of the silver coins represent issues of Mughal Emperors which go to fill up gaps in the existing collection. A hoard from village Arail, district Allahabad, brought to light silver coins of Ghiyas Shah Khalji, Nasir Shah, and Mahmud Shah, out of which 48 coins bearing different dates were acquired for the Museum. A silver coin of Bhoja Deva I of Ādivarāha type came from a village in district Unao. The billon coins include specimens of Sāmanta Deva, one of Sikandar Shah II Lodi (919 A.H.), one of Husain Shah of Jaunpur, one of Srimad Ādivarāha type, one of Muhammad Bin Sam, one of Qutubu-d-din Mubarak Shah (717 H), and one of Firoz Shah Tughlaq. The copper coins represent the richest and numismatically the most valuable harvest of the year. A hoard of Yaudheya coins representing class 3 of British Museum Catalogue, found its way to the Museum from Dehra Dun, of which 39 coins were acquired for the Museum cabinet. The complete legend Bhagavato swāmīno kumārasaya is found on the reverse, and the figure of Karttikeya and a goddess, sometimes with the variation of one and six heads arranged with or without crests in a variety of ways, as also figures of Śiva with triśūla, are found on the obverse. The Yaudheyas flourished for a thousand years from the time of Pāṇini to that of Samudragupta but the coins of the present hoard roughly belong to the 1st and 2nd centuries A. D. Another hoard from village Arwi in Bara Banki District brought to light 1,140 copper Kushana coins, from which 10 important types representing Kanishka and Huvishka were acquired for the Museum. Government sent 154 coins for sale at the Museum and 183 coins were sold to public for Rs.119-5 during the year.

5. Report on the working of the United Provinces Coin Committee—The vacancy on the Committee caused by the sad death of Sir H. Bomford, C.I.E., I.C.S., was filled by the appointment of J. C. Powell-Price, M.A., I.E.S., Director of Public Instruction, United Provinces.

In the last quarter of the year under report Rai Bahadur Prayag Dayal, Secretary of the Committee, proceeded on leave and Mr. V. S. Agrawala officiated in his place as Secretary from 5th January, 1940, onwards. Rai Bahadur Prayag Dayal was a distinguished numismatist and served the Committee in the capacity of Secretary for about 20 years with great credit and distinction, for which he deserves our grateful thanks. It is a matter for satisfaction that he had disposed of all finds before his retirement from the Committee except one from Jhansi.

In all, nine hoards of coins found as treasure trove in various districts of the Province were dealt with. These came from the districts of Dehra Dun, Unao, Allahabad (2), Aligarh, Saharanpur, Hamirpur, Rae Bareilly and Jalaun and consisted of 5 gold, 934 silver, 202 billon, and 2,219 copper coins. They included the issues of the ancient Yaudheya republic, the Sultans of Dehli, the kings of Jaunpur and Malwa, the Mughal Emperors, and Bala Shahi rupees. Recommendation for their acquisition and distribution to various institutions was made as under :

The gold coins contained a piece of Prāṇa Narain a bearing Saka Samvat 757(?). Who this personage was is still uncertain. The association of his coin with the coins of Akbar, Jahangir, Shahjahan, and Aurangzeb may offer some clue, although the Saka date 757 remains an anachronism. The other coins were of Mughal Emperors and Malwa kings, which go to fill up some important gaps in various collections. The find of Malwa coins in Allahabad District contained some new mint marks and rare varieties, which have enriched the series in the Lucknow cabinet.

Among the silver coins was a rupee of Aurangzeb with mint name Hukeri, which appears to be a new mint for this Emperor. A note on this coin was contributed by the Rai Bahadur for the Numismatic Supplement. Some of the other coins also represented types in fairly good preservation, but although they have gone to fill up the gaps in other important collections they call for no remarks here.

The billon coins also gave us two issues which were rare, one of Mubarak Shah and the other of Firoz Tughlaq.

The most important find disposed of during the year was a hoard of 164 copper coins from village Panjya, tahsil Chakrata, in Dehra Dun District, belonging to the Yaudheya republic representing class 3 of the B. M. C., of which 16 coins furnish new varieties. This is the first instance of a hoard of Yaudheya coins in our Province. The varieties with six-headed Karttikeya and six-headed goddess are important for illustrating points in Indian iconography, antedating by about two centuries the figure of single-headed Karttikeya of the Gupta period. The figure of a hall on the reverse of some of the coins points to the Samthāgārā or Assembly Hall of these republics. Rai Bahadur Prayag Dayal exhibited these coins at the last meeting of the Numismatic Society of India in Calcutta, and has also contributed an article on the new varieties for the Journal of the Numismatic Society of India.

6. Natural History—The Natural History Section received ten additions during the year. The place of honour is given to a fine specimen of a young Giraffe (height 6' 9") which originally came from Kenya, East Africa, and was purchased for the Museum in London from the firm of Messrs. Gerrard & Sons. It is an attraction in the mammals gallery and is a unique possession of the Lucknow Museum in this country. The Superintendent, Prince of Wales' Zoological Gardens, Lucknow, presented seven specimens with his usual generosity, of which an African lion cub (no bigger than a small house cat) has proved an attraction to visitors to the Natural History Section. A sea-horse (hippocampus) obtained from the Madras beach, which is an extraordinary little fish with a prehensile tail, is also an interesting addition to the stock of sea animals in the Museum collection.

7. Ethnography—Thirteen objects of varied interest were acquired for this section. A musical instrument known as Nāgphani with a double snake head was purchased at Hardwar. Two old pieces of garments (chogha and achkan) used by the Taluqdars of Oudh about five generations back were acquired as presents from Raja Syed Sajid Husain, Taluqdar of Kutwara, district Kheri. They are adorned with brocade work of the late Mughal style. Seven articles of ornaments and dress, including a pair of anklets, armlets and ear-rings, a straw hat, and a straw covering for protection from rain, commonly used by the aboriginal tribes of Dudhi in Mirzapur District, were presented by Mr. J. L. Sathé, I.C.S.

8. Picture Gallery—Fifteen pictures, including paintings and engraved drawings, were acquired for this section. Of special interest is a set of ten paintings in Mughal style of the late 18th century representing the series of ten Sikh Gurus from Guru Nanak to Guru Gobind Singh. All the paintings are of good workmanship and in a fair state of preservation. They constitute a valuable addition to the portrait collection of notable mediæval personages in Indian history.

9. Library—The Museum library rich in its stock of antiquarian journals and costly books on Indian art is becoming a nucleus of research, not only in connection with the work of the Museum, but also as the research library for the United Provinces Historical Society. Some important books added to the library are noted below :

May, Reginald Le—A Concise History of Buddhist Art in Siam with a Foreword by Sir John Marshall. Cambridge, 1938.

Vaidya, C. V.—Downfall of Hindu India. Bombay, 1933.

10. Visitors—The number of visitors recorded by the turnstile in the Lal Baradari building was 229,809 as against 230,732 in the preceding year. The daily average comes to 630, but in the winter season sometimes the daily figure reaches the neighbourhood of 1,500.

The number of visitors to the Archaeological Section, housed in the Kaisarbagh Museum building, which was thrown open to the public from November 1939, was 3,308.

11. Finances—The total receipts from the sale of museum publications, duplicate coins, estampages of inscriptions, and other petty items amounted to Rs.310, which were credited into treasury under two heads, viz. Rs.192 under "XLVI—Miscellaneous" and Rs.118 under "XLVI—Misc.—Treasure Trove." The total expenditure on the Museum obtained as government grant was Rs.19,133 against Rs.16,958 for the previous year. The increase is due to the additional grants made under the heads "Establishment" and "Contingencies" of the budget. A detailed statement is given in Appendix A.

12. General—Rai Bahadur Prayag Dayal, the former Curator, was out on tour for more than two weeks in all. He attended the meeting of the Managing Committee of the Muttra Museum and the Annual Meeting of the Numismatic Society of India held at Calcutta. He inspected an archaeological site in Ghazipur District, where a hoard of terracotta figures was discovered. The Catalogue of the Coins of the Kings of Oudh in the Provincial Museum, Lucknow, which the Rai Bahadur had prepared is now out from the Press. Copies have been distributed to various institutions in India and abroad and to distinguished scholars. Rai Bahadur Prayag Dayal has now retired from the Museum after long and meritorious service. The Provincial Museum owes much to his zeal and reliability. His curatorship was marked by all round progress.

His place has been taken by Mr. V. S. Agrawala of the Mathura Museum. Mr. Agrawala has set himself earnestly to his new duties. He has been out on tour for about two weeks since his appointment in January, 1940, first to attend the excavation work at Maholi in Muttra District and subsequently to attend the Session of the All-India Oriental Conference held at Tirupati in March, 1940. Mr. Agrawala had been given a course of museum training for eight months prior to his appointment and during this period he visited the museums at Lucknow, Bombay, Madrás, Calcutta, and Benares. While under training at Lucknow Museum he overhauled and re-arranged the archaeological section of the Museum and prepared a guide-book for that portion. I hope that under his guidance the Museum will maintain its progress. This is the first report prepared by him.

4. Working of the Museum—Adequate attention was paid towards scientific arrangement and display of exhibits in various galleries of both the Lal Baradari and Kaisarbagh buildings. The coins of Kushana rulers in the museum cabinet were thoroughly examined and a detailed list published in the United Provinces Gazette. The tribal coins of Panchala, Taxila, Ayodhya, Mathura, Kansambi, etc. were also classified and arranged in separate cabinets. A large number of Mughal coins which had been put away in covers, were also examined and arranged systematically.

In the Natural History and Ethnographic Sections attention was directed to better preservation and more scientific display of the collections. Elaborate bilingual labels painted in black and white on wooden blocks, were provided to a large number of exhibits.

In the Archaeological Section complete overhauling was done in the arrangement and display of exhibits of the Gandhara School. These sculptures, so far displayed in a small corridor along with plaster casts, were brought to a spacious hall which with recent acquisitions, forms a new Gallery and contains in one place all the important sculptures of this school ranging in date from A.D. first to fifth century. Stucco figures of Indo-Afghan School which closely resemble the sculptures of Gandhara School in style, have also been exhibited in this gallery for the purpose of comparative study. The space in the corridor room thus relieved by the transfer of the Gandharas, has been utilized for the display of a number of plaster casts of important antiquities received from various museums. Amongst these the most interesting specimens are those of a Prasadhika from Banaras, the Hellenistic stucco heads from Taxila and the bas-reliefs from Bharhut and Amaravati. Thirty museum pieces were sorted out from reserve collection and brought to exhibition galleries after mounting them on suitable wooden pedestals. About 100 labels written in the principal languages of this Province, were provided to exhibits in this section.

As usual several parties of students from local and outside educational institutions, visited the museum for study. These were taken round by the Curator and other museum officials who explained to them the important exhibits throwing light on their educative value.

The Museum participated in the Indian Art Exhibition held at Burlington House, London, under the auspices of the Royal Academy, by lending seven exhibits of high artistic value for display there. These objects together with those lent by other institutions of India, were highly appreciated by artists and general public in Great Britain so much so that their exhibition was subsequently arranged in U.S.A. It is a matter of great satisfaction that our exhibits won laurels in both the countries and thereby enhanced the reputation of our Museum. At the instance of the Indian Union Government it was decided to send a few specimens of our art antiquities for display in the offices of the Indian Embassies at Washington and Moscow, to reveal the glories of Indian art and culture in distant lands and bring credit to our heritage. The Curator judiciously selected the exhibits for this purpose and submitted a list of these to U. P. Government for necessary action.

Like previous years, sets of electro-plated casts of coins, estampages of inscriptions and other antiquities were lent to the District Exhibitions held at Rae Bareilly and Gonda. A few sets of electro-plated casts of coins were supplied to the Punya Pratapa College, Ajaigarh. Photographs of antiquities were supplied to distinguished scholars like Shri U. P. Shah, Baroda and Shri S. Banerji, Delhi.

In accordance with the recommendations of the U. P. Pay Committee, Government were pleased to revise the scales of pay of the museum officials with effect from April 1, 1947, as under :

1. Curator—Rs.250—25—400—E.B.—30—700—E.B.—50—850.
2. Assistant Curator—Rs.200—10—250—E.B.—10—310—E.B.—14—450.

4. Museum Assistant } —Rs.75—5—120.
5. Gallery Assistant }

12. Farrashes—3 }
13. Malis—2 } Rs.25—1—30.
14. Chaukidar—1 }

The Curator remained very busy throughout the year with the work of the Museums Reorganization Committee of which he was appointed Secretary last year. In this capacity he drafted the report of the Committee which after slight modifications, was adopted and submitted to Government for action. This report is very comprehensive and forms an important document by itself and its recommendations when implemented will go a long way in developing all types of museums in the Province. The Reorganization Committee recognized the good work done by Shri M. M. Nagar as its Secretary and expressed its appreciation in the following words :

“The Committee further places on record its appreciation of the hard and efficient work put in by its able Secretary, Mr. M. M. Nagar, M.A., U.P.E.S., Curator, Provincial Museum, Lucknow, as also for the assistance rendered by him in preparing this report.”

The acquisitions to different sections were as under :

Archaeology	191
Numismatics	189
Natural History	1
Ethnography	18
Picture Gallery	14
Total					413

5. Archaeology—During the year under review 191 antiquities (vide Acquisition Register nos. 47-37 to 48-112) were acquired for this section. The most valuable of these, however, is a set of 22 Gandhara sculptures of high artistic beauty and iconographic importance purchased through the strenuous efforts of Shri Nagar, the Curator. These sculptures have considerably enriched the existing collection of Gandharas and form a most welcome addition especially because their place of origin has now been cut off from our motherland. It consists of (1) an image of Buddha (47-37) (Plate I) seated cross-legged on a throne in abhayamudra being a superb example of masterly execution; (2) an image of Buddhisattva Maitreya (47-39) seated in dhyanamudra and wearing ekansika drapery, scarf and various ornaments of which the amulet-string worn round the body like yajnopavita is noteworthy; (3) a head of Buddha (47-86) remarkable for its masterly delineation; (4) a stucco-head (47-87) of Buddha extremely well preserved and bearing that peace and serenity for which the Gandhara artists were famous far and wide; and (5) two images (47-107—08) of Buddha (Plate II) seated in dhyanamudra on double lotus pedestals and wearing chhannavira—a type of garment introduced by the artists of North-West India in their art in early centuries of the Christian eras. These last sculptures seem to have been influenced by the Chinese art and resemble very much the Kushana Buddha statues found at Teing Lung Stian and other places in Chinese Turkistan.

In the terracotta gallery seventy-five heads of Gupta period emanating from the ancient site of Rajghat in Banaras District, were added. These offer extensive and interesting material for the study of hair decorations, hair-dresses and other hair ornaments in vogue in that period. Excellent examples of Indian terracottas depicting both secular and sacred themes were also acquired from the ancient sites of Kosam, Bhita, Mason, etc. and added to the museum collection. Towards the close of the year a set of twenty terracottas, was purchased from Mathura. These comprise a number of figures of the ancient mother goddess called "Aditi", "Amba" and heads of foreigners who came as traders or invaders and subsequently settled down in Aryavartta during the early centuries of the pre-Christian era. Such terracottas are a speciality of Mathura School and have so far not been found from any other ancient site of India.

During the year as many as 2,854 ancient beads made of glass, carnelion, agate, amethyst, sapphire and other semi-precious stones, found from various ancient sites of the Province, were purchased and added to the existing collection. The study of ancient beads forms a comprehensive subject by itself and although with the addition of the aforesaid beads our collection has easily become one of the best in India, its study cannot be pursued for want of adequate facilities. It is earnestly hoped that Government will kindly provide facilities for this in the near future.

6. Numismatics—189 coins comprising 13 gold, 67 silver and 109 copper, were acquired for the Coin Cabinet of the Provincial Museum during the year. Amongst the gold coins the most notable is a quarter mohur of Emperor Humayun (10297) bearing on the obverse the kalima and on the reverse the name of the king. It is unfortunate that the date and mint-name on the coin are not decipherable owing to its poor condition. Nevertheless the coin is unique as quarter mohur of this king is so far unknown. Other important gold coins were the three zodiac issues, viz. Taurus (10276), Leo (10281) and Capricornus (10282) of the Mughal Emperor Jehangir, which are extremely rare and the acquisition of which is most welcome as they go a long way to fill in the gaps existing in our zodiac series. A gold coin of Shah Alam II (10367) issued from the mint Daru-l-khilafat Shahjahanabad in Hijri year 1207 (=regnal year 34) was purchased by the Curator from Banaras. The specimen is smaller in size than those so far found and represents a rare piece. A detailed note on all these coins is under preparation and will shortly be contributed by the Curator, Shri Nagar to the Journal of Numismatic Society of India.

Of the silver coins acquired, special mention may be made of six thin cup-shaped punch-marked coins bearing six symbols on the obverse and two on the reverse. These coins are under study and will be published by the Curator in due course. Other, important coins deserving attention are those of Ghiyasu-d-din Balban, Shahjahan, Aurangzeb, Farrukhsiyar, Muhammad Shah and Ahmad Shah Bahadur which came as present from the U. P. Government and which furnish some new dates or mint-names not represented in the museum cabinet.

Amongst copper coins the most outstanding acquisition was of a very rare coin bearing the legend kosam (10285) on it. The importance of this coin cannot be overstressed as it helps us in identifying the place of its origin as the ancient site of Kausambi. This unique coin was acquired by Shri Nagar, the Curator, from the village Kosam itself and a paper on it by him is under preparation.

7. Report on the working of the U. P. Coin Committee—There was no change in the personnel of the Committee which consisted of:

- | | |
|--|-------------------|
| (1) Dr. Panna Lal, M.A., D.LITT., C.S.I., C.I.E. | } Members. |
| (2) Dr. Radha Kumud Mookerji, M.A., Ph.D. | |
| (3) Shri Prayag Dayal | |
| (4) Shri M. M. Nagar, M.A., U.P.E.S. | Secretary. |

Six treasure trove finds—two from Rae Bareilly, one each from Azamgarh, Lucknow, Sitapur and Jhansi Districts—were received during the year. They consisted of 2,114 coins of which 11 were gold, 1,604 silver and 499 copper ones. These hoards are under examination and study.

8. Natural History—One specimen of Biskhopra was received as present from Mr. H. S. Gill, Manager, Messrs. Mohammad Din & Sons, Tata Agricola Depot, Badshahnagar, Lucknow. The collection of natural history specimens worth the name in this Province exists only in the Provincial Museum, Lucknow, and therefore a large number of people visit the place to see and study. With a view to make their visits useful and educative, the Curator has, during the year, made strenuous efforts to rearrange and display the exhibits of this section in as best and intelligible a manner as possible. Further to facilitate their study he has prepared a short Guide-Book which is under print at the Government Central Press, Allahabad, and which, when available to the visitors, will render their visits still more interesting and fruitful.

9. Ethnography—Eighteen objects of varied interest, as mentioned in Appendix A, were acquired for this section. The most remarkable is a brass image of Vishnu (47-47) seated on a throne supported by his vahana Garuda. The deity has four hands in which he holds clockwise: chakra, gada, padma and sankha. On either side are Lakshmi and Sarasvati. Behind him is shown an aureol decorated elaborately with elephants, leogryphs, scroll-work and other designs. The image is a fine example of the late medieval art and dates back to about A.D. fourteenth century. Another noteworthy object is a brass image of Siva and Parvati in alinganamudra. Nandi the vehicle of Siva appears near his feet, while instead of lion as the vehicle of Parvati appears a lizard-like reptile near her feet. Ganesha and Karttikeya are respectively portrayed at the extreme flanks on their vehicles mouse and peacock. On the aureol appear the navagrahas. The top of the image is decorated with a purnakumbha. It is about 300 years old and is an excellent example of Nepalese art. Another object deserving notice is a Nepalese bronze statuette of Sadakshri Lokeshwar (48-115) seated in vajraparyanka attitude. The deity has four hands of which the principal ones are joined in anjalinudra. The remaining ones carry the rosary and lotus respectively. A Nepalese banner (thanaka, 48-127) showing the Buddhist god Lokanatha surrounded by the nine planets and other tutelary deities is another valuable acquisition to this section. It belongs to A. D. seventeenth century.

10. Picture Gallery—Fourteen paintings belonging to Rajput, Kangra and Avadh schools, were added to the Picture Gallery. Most remarkable among these is a set of nine paintings of Rajput school depicting love-scenes of a lady. Next come two Rajput paintings: one showing royal lady (48-1) seated on a couch and enjoying hukka with her attendant holding a flywhisk and the other (48-3) showing some lady engaged in drinking and listening music. These deserve special attention on account of their richness of expression and vivacity. A panel depicting two ladies probably a teacher and a pupil enjoying music by the side of a pond facing each other may also be considered as a worthy acquisition on account of its artistic workmanship. The portrait of Nasiru-d-din Haidar (47-33), King of Avadh, is a good illustration of the pictorial art of Avadh school of the nineteenth century.

11. Library—In addition to the usual periodicals and journals subscribed during the year many new books were added to the Museum Library. The most important of these are mentioned below:

- (1) Vikrama Smrati Granth.
- (2) Sampurnananda—Ganesh.
- (3) Jayaswal, K. P.—Andhakar Yugin Bharat.
- (4) Sampurnananda—Aryon ka Adi Desha.
- (5) Chatturvedi, S. N.—Hindi Vishwabharati, Vols. I, III, IV and V.
- (6) Law, B. C.—Magadha in Ancient India.
- (7) Commaraswamy, A. K.—Introduction to Indian Art.
- (8) Commaraswamy, A. K.—Portfolio of Indian Art.
- (9) Ram Krishna Centenary, Vols. I, II and III.
- (10) Sydney Rogerson and Charles Tunnicliffe—Our Bird Book.
- (11) Sarasvati, Bhumananda—Vedic Loka Vyavastha.

12. Interpretation and Research Work—The Curator kept himself engaged in studying and interpreting the antiquities acquired during the year. He also devoted himself to studying the vast collection of coins housed in the Museum Cabinet and assessing the historical data furnished by them. With a view to preparing a corpus of all the Kushana coins existing in the Museum Cabinet he paid special attention to their study and as a preliminary to his proposed work prepared a detailed list. Mr. Nagar also gave final touches to his Guide-Book to Natural History Section of the Museum and sent it to the Government Central Press for printing. This book when published will satisfy the long-felt need of the visitors desirous of studying the natural history collection. His Hindi Guide-Book to Mathura Museum of which he corrected the second and third proofs during the year, has now come out and copies of the same are available for sale at the counters of the Lucknow and Mathura Museums. He gave a public lecture on Mathura Art under the auspices of the Braja Sahitya Mandal at Mathura.

13. Visitors—The number of visitors during the year was 267,638 as against 285,732 of the last year, the daily average being 733. The largest number of visitors on Ganga Ashnan Fair day was 18,046. Visitors to the Archaeological Section during the year numbered 20,667.

14. General—Shri M. M. Nagar, Curator, remained out on tour for about six weeks. He attended the meetings of the Managing Committees of Mathura and Faizabad Museums. He was permitted to attend the tenth session of the Indian History Congress held at Bombay in December, 1947, and to visit the ancient temples of Nasik, Ajanta, Ellura, Devagarh, and Lalitpur, but he could not avail himself of the opportunity owing to pressure of work at the headquarters. His visits to Mathura, Banaras and Allahabad districts had been very fruitful as he was able to acquire many rare coins, sculptures and terracottas for the Museum. He worked as Secretary of the Museums Reorganization Committee throughout the year and showed great ability and efficiency in organizing its work and drafting its report. Despite the Committee's heavy work, Shri Nagar also evinced great capacity for work, untiring zeal and unabated interest in the development of educational and cultural activities of the museum.

4. Working of the Museum—A high standard of efficiency in the arrangement and upkeep of various galleries in both the museums at Lal Baradari and Kaisarbagh, was maintained throughout the year. Under the scheme of re-organization as recommended by the Museums Re-organization Committee in its report, Government were pleased to sanction a special grant of Rs.10,000 for the acquisition of rare and unique art objects, such as gold Gupta coins, paintings, sculptures, etc.

In the Archaeological Section the terracotta galleries were completely overhauled and rearranged by the Custodian under the guidance of the Curator, Shri Nagar. Fifty objects selected from the vast collection of terracottas bought in previous years and stored in the godowns, were brought to the exhibition galleries and displayed in chronological sequence after mounting them on wooden pedestals and providing them with suitable labels. These range in date from about the third century B. C. to twelfth century A. D. and form a representative collection. An illustrated article on some of the finest examples of these, has been prepared by Shri Nagar and sent to the Journal U. P. Historical Society for publication. Moulded bricks from various ancient sites specially Sravasti and Bhitargaon depicting Pauranic deities, floral designs and other decorative motifs, were also arranged properly in a separate case. Besides, a large showcase was entirely devoted to the display of terracottas, seals and sealings depicting numerous Tantric gods and goddesses whose cult was prevalent in and around Magadha during the early mediaeval period.

In the Numismatic Section coins of the tribal kings of Mathura, Ayodhya, Kosam, Malwa and other minor dynasties of Aryavartta, were classified and rearranged in a scientific manner in separate wooden cabinets. A descriptive note on some of the new coins of these series, was prepared by the Curator and published in the Journal of the Numismatic Society of India. For the safe custody and proper display of more rare and valuable coins one fire-cum-burglar-proof Godrej safe and two ordinary steel Godrej almirahs were purchased.

As usual the museum participated in the District Exhibitions held at Rae Bareilly, Gonda and Aligarh and lent important antiquities.

The museum supplied electroplated casts of coins to Shri M. L. Tonk, Delhi, the Registrar, Allahabad University and the District Inspectors of Schools, Etawah and Deoria. Estampages of important inscriptions were supplied to the Head Master, Government Normal School, Pauri (Garhwal), the Registrar, Allahabad University, the District Inspectors of Schools, Etawah and Deoria and the Jaina Museum, Sonagir. To further the interest of the scholars in the exhibits of the Museum, photographs of important antiquities were supplied to Sarvashri R. Raven-Hart, Bangalore, B. N. Puri, Lucknow, S. Banerji, Delhi, U. P. Shah, Baroda and A. K. Bhattacharaya, Calcutta.

During the year several parties of students from local as well as outside educational institution visited the Museum and were successfully taken round by the Custodian in the Kaisarbagh building and by the Gallery and the Museum Assistants in the Lal Baradari Museum. Distinguished visitors and savants were, however, shown round by the Curator himself.

Five art objects selected last year for display in the officers of the Indian Embassies at Washington (U. S. A.) and Moscow (U. S. S. R.) were despatched to Government of India. At the instance of the Indian Union Government it was decided to send a few specimens of old arms for display in the National War Academy Museum established at Kharakvasla near Poona. The Curator judiciously selected six objects for this purpose and informed the Provincial Government for further necessary action in the matter.

The Curator attended the XIth Session of the Indian History Congress held at Delhi in December, 1948, and participated in its deliberations. He also attended the annual meetings of the Numismatic Society of India and the Museums Association of India and was elected a member on the Managing Committee of the latter. Shri Nagar was also appointed a member on the Editorial Board of 'Siksha', a quarterly journal brought out by the U. P. Education Department.

Besides examining a large number of coins offered for sale by the public, Shri Nagar, the Curator, as Honorary Secretary of the Uttar Pradesh Coin Committee, deciphered 1,262 coins found as treasure trove in the State and forwarded his recommendations to Government for their acquisition and distribution to various institutions. A report on the working of the Coin Committee is incorporated in paragraph 7 of this report.

The acquisitions to different sections were as under :

						Rs.
Archaeology	190
Numismatics	424
Natural History	4
Ethnography	318
Picture gallery	132
Total						1,068

5. Archaeology—One hundred and ninety objects were acquired for this section. The most valuable of these, however, is a group of ten sculptures comprising some extremely beautiful icons (Pls. 1-2) of Jaina pantheon which have been acclaimed by eminent scholars to be of great artistic merit and of considerable importance for the elucidation of Jaina Art and Iconography. They belong to Gupta period, i.e., circa A.D. sixth century and are a welcome addition to our collection. Two images of Mathura school: one representing Buddha in Gandhara style and the other a Naga deity, also form valuable acquisitions on account of their iconographic peculiarities. About one hundred terracottas of different schools and periods of Indian history, emanating from the ancient sites of Rajghat, Mathura, Kosam, Bhita, Mason, Kopia, etc. were added. These offer extensive and interesting material for the study of various problems connected with the social, cultural and religious history of our motherland. Amongst these the most important is a torso of mother goddess (48.187) (5"×4") holding a child in her left lap. The figure wears applique ornaments and an elaborate headgear embossed with lotus rosettes. It hails from Mathura and belongs to archaic period. The material used is black clay. Archaic figures of mother goddess with child in arm are very scarce and seldom met with and our Museum is extremely lucky in having a specimen of this rare variety. Another unique object remarkable for its fine modelling is a terracotta head from Rajghat representing Shiva (5"×3").

But by far the most valuable acquisition under this section was a set of six copper plate grants of Maharaja Jayachandra of Kannauj. These royal charters record the gift of lands to priests and Brahmins on sacred occasions by the Emperor himself in and around the region of Kashi. The Museum was singularly fortunate in getting these unique documents as such finds are extremely few and far between. Towards the close of the year a set of seven seals originating from the famous site of Nalanda, was purchased from Banaras. Names of various priests and contemporary officials are recorded on these seals. Nearly three thousand ancient beads made of glass, cornelion, agate, amethyst, sapphire and other semi-precious stones, discovered from various ancient sites of the Province, were added, thus rendering the bead collection of the Museum now easily the strongest in India.

6. Numismatics—Four hundred and twenty-four coins were added to the Coin Cabinets of the Provincial Museum. Of these 78 are gold, 139 silver, 115 billon, 4 bronze, 66 copper, 1 brass and 1 lead. Amongst important coins mention may be made of a hoard of six gold coins (nos. 10407-12) comprising issues of Kushana and Gupta rulers. It is said to have originated from a village in Basti district. Apart from the high artistic merit of some of these coins the hoard is important as it is the first one so far known in which Kushana and Gupta coins have been found together. Its minute examination and thorough study is likely to throw fresh light on the long-debated problem of the Kushanas and their successors. A gold coin of Vasudeva (no. 10436) having on its obverse king standing and on the reverse Shiva (o h p o) and elephant stands unique and so far unknown. In the Gupta series the most remarkable acquisition is a good coin (10440) of Emperor Kumaragupta I showing on the obverse king riding a horse and hunting a rhinoceros with a sword and on the reverse goddess Ganga standing on her vehicle—the crocodile. This beautiful and rare coin of which only four other specimens are known so far, was purchased at a cost of Rs.2,500. A number of illustrated articles on this extremely rare find were published by the Curator for the information of scholars. Another interesting specimen (no. 10525) in this series is a coin of Chandragupta II Vikramaditya, archer type, made of brass, it being the first specimen of a Gupta coin in that metal. Among coins of mediaeval Hindu kings, eleven gold coins (nos. 10443-53) of Gangeyadeva of Kalachuri dynasty are noteworthy. They were found in a treasure trove hoard from Sitapur district and represent all the three denominations of drammas of this king.

Four gold coins of Aurangzeb Alamgir deserve special attention as two of them bear new mint names Akbarabad and Bhakkar on them while the other two represent rare varieties. Two gold coins of Shah Alam I Bahadur: one (no. 10464) having Farkhanda Buniyad Haidarabad mint and the other (no. 10466) having Multan mint, are also unique on account of bearing unrepresented mint names on them. Further a gold coin (no. 10467) issued by Emperor Muhammad Shah from Sahrind mint and another (no. 10470) by Alamgir II from the same mint are also very rare and so far unknown. All these coins are under the study of the Curator and will be published in due course.

Amongst the ancient issues a silver punch-marked coin (no. 10515) of oblong shape, which bears several new symbols, is noteworthy. A number of copper coins from Bhita and Kosam, bearing names of new kings so far not known from other sources, were added and notes thereon were published by the Curator in the journal of Numismatic Society of India. Twenty-two Nepalese coins (nos. 10413-34) were received as present from the Hon'ble Premier of the Uttar Pradesh, Shri Govind Ballabh Pant. They comprise all denominations of Nepalese coinage in gold, silver, billon and copper as current today.

7. Report on the working of the Uttar Pradesh Coin Committee—There was no change in the personnel of the Coin Committee except that Dr. A. S. Altekar, M.A., D.LITT., Professor and Head of the Department of Ancient Indian History and Culture, Hindu University, Banaras, was appointed as member in place of Dr. Radha Kumud Mukherji, M.A., Ph.D. At the close of the year the Committee consisted of (1) Dr. Panna Lall, M.A., D.LITT., (2) Dr. A. S. Altekar, M.A., LL.B., D.LITT., (3) Shri Prayag Dayal, and (4) Shri M. M. Nagar, M.A. U.P.E.S. Secretary.

The following eight hoards of treasure trove coins found in the Province were disposed of during the year:

Report no.	District			Class of coins	Metal		No.
1	Gorakhpur	East India Company, and Indian States.	Gold	6	11
2	Lucknow	Modern	Silver	5	525
3	Rae Bareilly	Do.	Do.	..	567
4	Sitapur	Kalachuri	Do.	..	11
5	Unnao	Gupta	Gold	..	3
6	Azamgarh	Modern	Do.	..	20
7	Do.	Do.	Silver	..	15
8	Do.	Kushana	Do.	..	110
	Total	Copper	..	1,262

These hoards consisted of 20 gold, 1,132 silver and 110 copper coins and covered the issues of the Kushana, Gupta and Kalachuri dynasties, the East India Company, Indian States and modern rupees. All these coins were identified and recommended for acquisition and distribution according to Treasure Trove rules amongst various institutions mentioned in Appendix B. Twenty-eight coins were acquired for the Coin Cabinet of the Provincial Museum, Lucknow, 36 were recommended for distribution to other institutions, 41 were taken for sale and 1,157 were returned to the senders.

The entire hoard of 6 gold and 5 silver coins from Gorakhpur district consisting of coins of the East India Company, Queen Victoria, King Edward VII and the Indian States of Jaipur and Baroda, has been acquired for the Lucknow Museum as these coins are in excellent condition and fill up gaps in the existing collection. The hoard of 11 gold coins from village Fatepur, Tahsil and District Sitapur, yielded the issues of the Kalachuri Emperor Gangeyadeva, who ruled over this province in circa A.D. eleventh century. These coins are technically known as Gangeyadeva drammas and bear on the obverse the effigy of Goddess Lakhmi and on the reverse the name of the King in Nagari script of that period. The hoard is formed of 8 drammas, 1 arddha (half) dramma and 2 pada (quarter) drammas. Severally these coins have no claims to rarity, but as a hoard they have a special significance as they contain all the three denominations of the gold currency of this king, viz., dramma, half dramma, and quarter dramma. All these coins were, therefore, acquired for the Lucknow Museum. Another hoard of 3 gold coins of Gupta Emperor, Chandragupta II Vikramaditya, was found in Azam-Khera hamlet of village Baraunki P. S. Bangarmau, district Unnao. Although the coins represent the archer type of this king, which is very commonly met with, they were acquired for the Lucknow Museum on account of the place of their origin falling within the very heart of the Gupta Empire.

Another interesting hoard of 110 coins found in village Bindwal, P. S. Bindwal, district Azamgarh, consisted of the issues of the Kushana Emperors, Kanishka and Huvishka. Of these, two coins of Huvishka are most remarkable as they represent a new variety of his coinage. These coins portray the king seated cross-legged on elephant with bow and arrow in his hands. Another very rare coin of this king has on its reverse the wind-god (P. M. C. XIX 155). All these three coins were acquired for the Museum.

Eleven hundred and fifty-seven modern coins, which represented the issues of William IV, Queen Victoria, Edward VII, George V and George VI, were returned to the sender.

During the year no coins were received from the Government for sale but out of the old stock 69 coins were sold to the public for Rs.41-6.

8. Natural history—Four specimens were added to this section. Of these a snake (no. 48-147) with two mouths joined together representing a freak of nature, was received as present from Shri Shafi-ud-din Qidwai, muharrir of police station Hazaraganj, Lucknow. Labels attached to butterflies and moths, which had worn out, were replaced by new ones and a casewise list of the birds was prepared to facilitate their proper checking. The Curator passed the final proofs of his Guide Book to this section and it is expected that it will be out soon.

9. Ethnography—Three hundred and thirteen objects were acquired for this section. A brass image (48-144) of the elephant god Ganesha seated in ardhaparyanka with Lakshmi seated in his lap is most notable. The god has four hands in which he holds clockwise : Parsu, Modaka, flower and rosary. Over his head is a canopy of nine-hooded snake. The ornamental pedestal, on which the image rests, deserves special notice. The image is a fine example of Nepalese school and is about 300 years old. Another notable statuette of the same school is that of Shiva (48-204; ht. 7") seated in lalitasana with Parvati in his lap. Over his head is shown a snake and on the crown Ganga. Another image remarkable for its artistic beauty and masterly delineation of details is that of Mahishasuramardini in which the goddess stands on her vehicle, the lion, and catches the demon Mahisha by his hair to sever his head. A sword (48-206) bearing an inscription in Sanskrit and Arabic found in Saadatganj, Lucknow, was presented to the Museum by the Superintendent of Police, Lucknow. One Khukhuri with two knives in a demasced sheath was received as a gift from the Hon'ble Premier of the Uttar Pradesh. But the most remarkable acquisition consisted of two silver jars (48-213-14) engraved all round with beautiful exuberant arabesque containing birds, animals and other big games. These jars are master-pieces of Mughal art and famous for the delineation of details and richness of expression.

Towards the close of the year nearly 300 antiquities consisting of Tibetan banner-paintings, manuscripts, images, terracottas, seals and sealings, herbs, accoutrements, religious symbols, utensils, etc. collected by His Holiness Rev. Swami Pranavananda of Holy Kailash and Manasarovara from Tibet and Manasarovara regions, were secured for the Museum. These antiquities form nucleus for the proposed Himalayan Court in our Museum.

10. Picture Gallery—One hundred and thirty-two paintings some of which represent the choicest specimens of Mughal and Pahari schools were acquired for this section. Two sets of Kangra school, one of 22 paintings depicting the Mahimnastotra in praise of Lord Shiva and another of 34 paintings depicting Ragas and Raginis after the fashion of old Rajput style, were acquired for the museum. But most important, however, was the acquisition of a set of 28 paintings illustrating various Ragas and Raginis, of Mughal school, remarkable for their vivacity, loveliness and richness of expression. Other less important acquisitions were a few paintings of Indo-Persian, late Mughal, and Kangra schools. Towards the close of the year a set of 32 banner paintings depicting various Buddhist gods and goddesses, etc., was added to the Museum. All these acquisitions have considerably enhanced the value and extent of the Art Gallery of the Museum.

11. Library—In addition to the subscribed periodicals and journals many new books were added to the Museum library. Of these the most important are—

- (1) Saraswati, Bhuvanmananda-Loka Vyavastha.
- (2) Coleman, Laurance Vail—The Museum in America, Volumes, I. II. III.
- (3) Gangoly, O. C.—Ragas and Raginis, Calcutta.

- (14) Lousis Renou—Bibliographie Vedique.
- (15) Majumdar, R. C., Raychaudhuri, H. C. and Datta, K.—Advanced History of India, London, 1948.

12. Interpretation and Research Work—During the year under report Shri Nagar was busy in studying and interpreting the new acquisitions made for various sections of the Museum. He prepared an article entitled "Parvati Image in the Provincial Museum" and published it in "Shiksha." To the same journal he contributed a note on "An extremely rare coin of Kumaragupta I". The discovery of this unique find was also announced through the columns of the National Herald and Amrit Bazar Patrika. A detailed article on this coin was subsequently contributed to the journal of the Numismatic Society of India.

To popularize the Museum movement in the province and to acquaint the public with its past glories, Shri Nagar delivered two broadcast talks at the invitation of the Director, All-India Radio, Lucknow: one on the "Museums in the United Provinces, their Expansion and Development" and the other on "Archaeological Excavations as a source of reconstructing our past History". Amplified versions of these talks in Hindi were also published in the "Siksha".

13. Visitors—The number of visitors during the year was 293,165 against 267, 638 of the past year, the daily average being 803. The highest number of visitors on Ganga Ashnan Day was 18,035. Visitors to the Archaeological Section numbered 35,311. Amongst the distinguished visitors who graced the Museum by their visit, were His Highness the Maharaja of Banaras, Hon'ble Dr. Shri Sampurnanad Ji, D.LITT., Minister for Education, Uttar Pradesh, Dr. A. S. Altekar, M.A., D.LITT., Professor and Head of Department of Ancient Indian History and Culture, Banaras Hindu University, and Delegation of Burmese Teachers.

14. General—Shri M. M. Nagar, Curator, remained on tour for about 12 weeks during the year. He attended the meetings of the Managing Committee of the Mathura and Faizabad Museums. His visits to Allahabad, Banaras and Mathura districts have resulted in the acquisition of some very rare coins, sculptures, terracottas, etc. In Basti district he discovered in village Kopia (tahsil Khaliabad) the remains of an ancient glass factory. The relics collected from this site are under his close study and a monograph on the beads which form a speciality of the place, is under preparation. His tours to Almora and Naini Tal districts resulted in the acquisition of a number of rare antiquities including sculptures which are representative of the lithic art of that region during the reign of the Katyur kings.

Shri M. M. Nagar, has been doing excellent work. He is devoted to the Museum and it is largely due to his enthusiasm and ability that the institution is rapidly progressing and becoming of increasing utility to the public. I feel great pleasure in recording my appreciation of the arduous and solid work which he has brought to his credit during the year.

2. Administration—The office of the President was held by me throughout the year except from 20th April to 19th October, 1949, when I was on leave and Sri S. S. Hasan, I.C.S., officiated for me. Sri M. M. Nagar, M.A., U.P.E.S., worked as Curator and Secretary throughout.

Following the recommendations of the Museums Re-organisation Committee, Government were pleased to sanction two permanent posts of clerks in the scale of Rs.60—3—90—4—110 under G. O. no. To enlist public co-operation in the management and development of museums and in order that the museum movement may be broad-based, Government, during the year, were pleased to set up a central organisation called the 'U. 4. Working of the Museum—Due attention was paid to the general upkeep and maintenance of various galleries in both the Lal Baradari and Kaisarbagh buildings. In the Numismatic Section large wooden cabinets complete with perforated trays, were fitted inside the Chubb and Godrej safes for arranging the gold coins of the Gupta, Pathan and Mughal Emperors. Besides twelve small wooden cabinets were purchased for displaying separately copper coins of various autonomous states (gana rajya) which existed in Aryavartta from the earliest times to 4th century A.D. Three Godrej Steel Almirahs were also purchased for keeping other miscellaneous coins in the Coin Room.

In the Natural History Section some of the specimens such as lion, giraffe, antelope, python attacking the deer etc. which were thoroughly cleaned and polished. Besides a large number of birds were re-arranged in scientific order.

In the Ethnographic Section 25 objects including some fine examples of Nepalese bronzes so far kept in reserve collection, were put on show and provided with suitable labels.

In the Archaeological Section fifty terracottas and a dozen stone heads were selected from the reserve collection and brought to the exhibition galleries after mounting them on wooden pedestals and providing them with bi-lingual labels. Considerable improvement was also effected in the arrangement and display of seals and sealings and a big showcase was provided entirely for their exhibition.

As usual several parties of students from local and outside educational institutions visited the museum for study. They were taken round in the Archaeological Section by the Custodian and in the Lal Baradari by the Museum and Gallery Assistants. Distinguished visitors and scholars of repute were, however, shown round by the Curator himself.

To propagate the study of archaeology sets of electroplated casts of coins, estampages of inscriptions and photographs of important antiquities were lent to the historical exhibitions held by the District Board at Rae Bareilly and by St. Andrew's College at Gorakhpur. Besides, a few selected original art objects consisting of coins, sculptures, terracottas and paintings were lent to the Lucknow University for the Art Exhibition organized on the occasion of its Silver Jubilee Celebrations.

Facsimiles of important inscriptions and electroplated casts of coins were supplied to the Patna and Allahabad Universities; Tilakdhari College, Jaunpur; D. B. M. School, Baghawanpur, Tahsil Mogha, district Ferozepur; and to the District Inspector of Schools, Etawah, for the Educational Museum there. To create and arouse public interest in the museum antiquities, photographs of important exhibits were supplied to S. A. V. Intermediate College, Bharthana (Etawah); Sri P. Bandopadhyaya, Delhi, and Sri M. R. Majumdar, Baroda. Besides, a large-sized photoprint of Akbar's portrait, prepared by Sri Sharda Prasad, a living artist of great repute, was supplied to the Ministry of Education, Government of India, for inclusion in the documentary exhibition proposed to be held at the UNESCO conference. Under orders of the State Government the Provincial Museum agreed to give away on permanent loan to the National Museum of India, New Delhi, the seven sculptures which were originally sent in 1947 to the Indian Art Exhibition held at Burlington House, London, and later on retained at the Government House Exhibition, New Delhi.

During the year the Curator inspected the ancient site of Khukhundu in Deoria district and recommended Government to sanction Rs.2,000 for the protection and preservation of that important site. Government were pleased to accept his recommendations and placed the amount at the disposal of the District Magistrate, Deoria, who was asked to take up the work in consultation with the Curator, Sri M. M. Nagar. A detailed report on the work done at Khukhundu was also prepared by the Curator and submitted to Government.

At the instance of the State Government the Curator inspected the District Museum at Budaun and the Barkhandi Museum at Shivagarh (district Rae Bareli) and submitted to Government detailed reports on them along with his recommendations for their development.

Sri Nagar was further asked by Government to visit the ancient site of Ahichchhatra in Bareilly district and study the monuments, specially a mud wall profusely studded with bones, which were excavated there by the Archaeological Survey of India.

The Curator represented the Uttar Pradesh Government and the Provincial Museum, Lucknow, on the Arts Conference convened by the Ministry of Education, Government of India, at Calcutta, for creating a National Cultural Trust to foster and develop the art and culture of the country. The Curator also attended as an official delegate, the twelfth session of the Indian History Conference, the Annual Meeting of the Numismatic Society of India and of Museums Association of India, held at Cuttack and participated in their proceedings and deliberations. He visited the ancient sites and monuments of Puri and Bhuvaneshwara and made their critical study.

Under G. O. no. F. 5-4/49-A.I., dated June 30, 1949, the Government of India, Ministry of Education, New Delhi, were pleased to appoint Sri Nagar as one of their Regional Advisers for examining and recommending the purchase of art objects available in Uttar Pradesh for acquisition by the National Museum of India. The Curator was also appointed during the year a member of the District Educational Museum, Etawah.

The Short Guide-Book to Natural History Section of the Museum, prepared by the Curator two years ago, has now been published and its copies are available for sale at the museum counter. The publication was a long-felt need of the public and has proved of great benefit to visitors desirous of knowing about zoological specimens in a short time without going much into their details or technicalities. Towards the close of the year the Curator, under orders of the Hon'ble Minister for Education, prepared a booklet on 'the progress and working of the museums in Uttar Pradesh' for circulation amongst the members of the legislature with a view to apprise them of the working of our museums.

Besides examining a large number of coins offered for sale by the public, the Curator, as Honorary Secretary of the U. P. Coin Committee deciphered 654 coins found as treasure trove in the Province and forwarded his recommendations to Government for their acquisition and distribution to various institutions. A detailed report on the working of the U. P. Coin Committee is incorporated in paragraph 7 of the report.

During the year acquisitions to different sections were as under:

Archaeology	163
Numismatics	600
Natural History	1
Ethnography	57
Picture Gallery	9
Total	830

5. Archaeology.—The antiquities under this section were augmented by the addition of 163 antiquities. The most valuable of these, however, is an extremely beautiful sculpture of the Jaina patriarch Ajitanatha (Plate I) which has been acclaimed by eminent scholars to be of great artistic merit and of considerable significance for the elucidation of Jaina art and iconography. It belongs to Gupta period circa 6th century A.D. and forms a welcome addition to our existing collection. Another remarkable acquisition consists of a railing pillar (Pl. II) belonging to Gandhara school, which depicts a Salabhanjika. It is said to have been found from an ancient site in Rawalpindi but was purchased at Mathura. A Vishnu image in viratarupa, which though fragmentary, proclaims a high standard of art of the Kushana period and is another noteworthy item of acquisition. Mention may also be made of an image of Buddha which evinces effective and superior workmanship characteristic of the Mathura artists.

About 80 terracottas of different schools and periods of Indian history emanating from the ancient sites of Rajghat, Mathura, Kosam, Bhita, Masaon, Kopia, Mati, Kudarkota, etc. were added to the collection. These offer extensive and interesting material for the study of various problems connected with the social, cultural and religious history of our country. The most important amongst these is a terracotta plaque depicting a lady holding a lotus flower in her right hand. The figure wears an elaborate head-gear embossed with jewels and lotus rosettes. It reminds us of the Yakshi figures portrayed on the railing of the Bharhut Stupa and is remarkable for its excellent workmanship combined with richness of expression. It hails from village Tarhi (Basti district) and comes as a present from Srimati Durgawati Tripathi of Basti. Another terracotta figure remarkable for its novel representation is the bust of a Mother Goddess found in the same district. It shows a seated female giving suck to a child (Plate III). Two more children are shown crawling on her arms and probably sucking her body. This representation of the Goddess as Universal Mother is very novel and hitherto unknown in plastic art. The object belongs to circa first century B.C. and is made of baked clay with red slip over it. It is said to have originated from Kopia and has been presented by Pt. Amaranath Shukla, B.A., LL.B.—an ardent archaeologist of Basti. Amongst other terracottas remarkable for their fine modelling and richness of expression, mention may be made of: a Shiva head from Rajghat, a mould depicting a lady in graceful pose from Bhita and a plaque showing a lady from Mathura.

But by far the most important archaeological discovery of the year was of the remains of an ancient glass factory at the ancient site of Kopia, 31 miles from Basti via Khalilabad. Here extensive ruins on the bank of an old bed of the river Ami (Anoma) are found. One of these mounds appears to have been the manufacturing centre of glass beads and glass bangles. This has yielded specimens of glass in various stages of manufacture, pieces of glass bangles, numerous specimens of beads and fragmentary crucibles etc. These relics were discovered by Sri M. M. Nagar, Curator, Provincial Museum, Lucknow, with the help of Sri Amarnath Shukla of Basti, and are at present under his close examination. When studied and assessed properly the material from the ancient site of Kopia is likely to throw flood of new and valuable light on the history and technique of glass-making in ancient India. In addition to these more than a thousand ancient beads made of glass, carnelion, agate, amethyst, sapphire and other semi-precious stones, discovered from various ancient sites were also added thus rendering the bead-collection of the Provincial Museum as one of the best and strongest in India now.

6. Numismatic.—The year was singularly fruitful in the acquisition of ancient coins and as many as 600 coins, consisting of 22 gold, 467 silver, 1 brass and 110 copper, were added to the Provincial Coin Cabinet. The most important acquisition of the year was a big hoard of 440 silver punch-marked coins which was obtained by purchase from Mathura. The coins are the standard Karshapana of 32 rattis weight and represent the earliest silver coinage of India being assignable to 5th—6th century B.C. They are a valuable addition to the already rich collection of punch-marked series of the Provincial Museum Coin Cabinet. Some Mitra coins of Panchala and Magha coins of Kaushambi were also obtained during the year. These throw valuable light on the early history of India and give us the names of some new kings so far unknown to history. Besides, a number of copper coins of the Kushana Emperors having figures of Sun, Moon, Fire, Siva, etc. were also added to. The most noteworthy of these is a coin of Emperor Huvishka showing on the obverse king seated on an elephant with bow and arrow in his hands—a device so far unknown in Kushana coinage. It was found in a Treasure Trove lot and has since been presented to Provincial Coin Cabinet by the U. P. Government.

In the Gupta series the most remarkable achievement was the acquisition of a very rare and unique gold coin of Emperor Kumaragupta I (Pl. IVa) of Asvamedha type. It shows on the obverse a horse standing before a sacrificial post and on the reverse his chief queen holding a pin, towel and water-pot. So far four specimens of this type of coin were known, which were all preserved in the British Museum. The Provincial Museum, Lucknow is now the first to acquire this singularly important coin in this country and put it on show for the general public. Another remarkable acquisition was a gold coin of horseman type of Chandragupta II Vikramaditya (Pl. IVb) showing on the reverse Goddess Lakshmi standing—a device absolutely new as yet. Other notable coins acquired in this series were: (a) a battle-axe type of Maharaja Samudragupta and (b) a lion-slayer type of Chandragupta II Vikramaditya (Pl. IVc) having on its reverse Goddess Durga seated on a lion walking to left—both showing peculiarities so far not met with on the existing coin types. Mention may also be made of a brass coin of archer type of Kumaragupta I which is the only specimen of a Gupta coin of this monarch so far known in this metal. In the mediaeval series three gold coins of the Kalachuri kings—Prithvideva and Varmmadeva were added to.

7. Report on the working of the Uttar Pradesh Coin Committee.—There was no change in the personnel of the Coin Committee during the year. It consisted of (1) Dr. Panna Lal, M.A., D.LITT., (2) Dr. A. S. Altekar, M.A., LL.B., D.LIT., (3) Rai

Bahadur Sri Prapag Dayal, (Retd. Curator) and (4) Sri M. M. Nagar, M.A., U.P.E.S., Secretary.

The following five hoards of treasure trove coins found in the State, were disposed of during the year:—

Report No.	District	Class of coins	Metal	No. of coins
1. Kanpur		Mughal Emperors	Silver	80
2. Basti		Pathan Kings	Silver	100
3. Jhansi		Mughal Emperors	Silver	182
4. Naini Tal		Mughal and Durrani kings	Silver	291
5. Faizabad		Kalachuri dynasty	Gold	1
Total				654

These hoards consisted of 1 gold and 653 silver coins and included issues of the Kalachuri, the Pathan, the Mughal and the Durrani kings. All these coins were identified and recommended for acquisition and distribution according to Treasure Trove Rules amongst various institutions mentioned in Appendix B. 51 coins were acquired for the Coin Cabinet of the Provincial Museum, Lucknow. 395 were recommended for distribution to other institutions and 208 were taken for sale at the Provincial Museum, Lucknow.

One gold coin of Virasinghadeva, a scion of Kalachuri dynasty, who ruled over Aryavartta during the 11th century A.D., which emanated from village Sotahni, Police Station Ayodhya, district Faizabad, being unrepresented, has been acquired for the Coin Cabinet of the Provincial Museum, Lucknow.

Amongst the silver issues one coin (no. 56) of Mughal Emperor Jehangir, bearing the mint Islamabad and date 1022-Aban, found in the hoard of 80 silver coins from Kanpur district, is unique and has been acquired for the Provincial Coin Cabinet. A coin (no. 114) of Shah Alam II found in the hoard of 182 silver coins from Jhansi district, is remarkable on account of its date 1188 written as VV. This coin along with three others (nos. 13, 14 and 19) which go to fill up gaps in our collection, have been acquired for the Provincial Museum. Forty-five more coins from the hoard of 291 silver coins from Naini Tal district, bearing such dates and mint names as were wanting in the Provincial Coin Cabinet, have further been acquired.

During the year 41 coins were received from Government for sale thus making the total of coins in hand in the year 610. 281 were sold to the public for Rs.198.

8. Natural History.—One specimen of a panther was received from the Prince of Wales Zoological Gardens, Lucknow. Its head was mounted locally and put on show.

9. Ethnography.—57 objects detailed in Appendix A were added to this section. Most important of these is a beautiful brass Lamp Stand or Dipastambha (50.26) representing a fine example of Nepalese art of circa 18th century A.D. It is surmounted by an image of the Buddhist God Vighnantaka standing on Ganesha. The deity has four hands in which he holds clockwise: a sheath, a bowl, a purse and a sword. Ganesha has also four hands in which he is holding clockwise: Parasu, Modaka, flower and rosary. Another remarkable object is a brass image of goddess Ambika (49.227) seated in lalitasana. She holds in her right hand a bunch of flowers. The left leg of the goddess rests on her vehicle-lion. The image has an ornamental aureol the back of which bears an inscription of V.S.1472-1415 A.D. In the armoury section one Bhujali and some old flints, lock guns and pistols which were received as present from the District Magistrate, Lucknow, form valuable acquisitions. A few old swords which came as a present from the Principal, Lal Bagh Girls School, Lucknow, also deserve mention. Towards the close of the year a representative set of 23 objects (listed under no. 50.29|1-23) consisting of images, terracottas, herbs, religious symbols and utensils, etc. collected from the mountaneous region of Tibet, was purchased for the Museum. This goes a long way to supplement the rich collection of Tibetan antiquities purchased last year.

10. Picture Gallery.—Nine Tibetan banner-paintings (Thanakas) were purchased for this section. Of these a panel (49.259) representing Goddess Kali dancing on a demon and a banner (49.257) depicting Padmapani Bodhisattva seated on a cushion decorated with full-blown lotus, deserve special mention. Both these paintings are nearly 300 years old and vividly show the influence of Indian Art or the art of Tibet during the mediaeval period. Two banner paintings (49.262-63) showing Buddha in earth-touching attitude bhumisparshamudra and surrounded by 108 miniature Buddhas in various poses also call for attention on account of their simple delineation combined with richness of expression.

11. Library.—In addition to the subscribed periodicals and journals many new books were added to the Reference Library. Of these the most important are:

Shri Aurobindo.—The Significance of Indian Art.

Coomaraswamy, A. K. and Horner, I. B.—The Living Thoughts of Gautama Buddha.

Law, Bimala Charan—On the Chronicles of Ceylon.

Hunter, G. R.—The Script of Harappa and Mohenjodaro and its connection with other scripts.

Emily Carr—Her Paintings and Sketches.

Helen Rubssow—Art of Russia.

Gladstone, W. T.—Essays on Mughal Art.

Pranavananda, Swamy—Kallas-Manasarovara.

12. Interpretation and Research Work.—The Curator, Sri Nagar, was mostly occupied in studying and interpreting the antiquities acquired during the year. He also devoted himself to the classification and scientific study of the rich collection of tribal coins housed in the Museum and assessing their historical importance. Detailed articles embodying the researches made thereon were prepared by him and contributed to the Journal of the Numismatic Society of India under the caption "Some New and Rare Coins from Kaushambi."

Sri Nagar also studied and systematized the rich archaeological material acquired by him from Kopia and published the results of his studies in various research journals. These together with small notes contributed to the columns of the leading dailies as well as popular Hindi Magazines of the Province aroused considerable interest amongst the scholars and the general public and led a large number of them to visit the museum and obtain first hand information about these rare and valuable objects. He sent a portion of the Kopia glass beads to the Director, Central Glass Institute, Calcutta, for analysing their composition and colour. The result of latters' scientific investigation is eagerly awaited as it is likely to throw valuable light on the technique of making and colouring glass in ancient India.

To reveal the ancient glories of our motherland as evinced by the art treasures in the State Museum, the Curator delivered four broad-cast talks during the year at the invitation of the Station Director, All-India Radio, Lucknow Station. These talks were on various interesting and popular topics such as "History through coins—Gupta period", "Archaeological Discovery in Kopia", "Indian Mural Paintings" and "Indian Architecture". Amplified versions of these talks were also contributed to various Hindi magazines in order to educate a wider circle of the public.

In addition to the above Sri Nagar prepared the following other articles and contributed them to the journals mentioned against them:

- (a) New Kings of Kaushambi—Shiksha.
- (b) Some Jaina Sculpture in Lucknow Museum—Shiksha.
- (c) Kopia—Hon'ble Dr. Sampurnananda Commemoration Volume, Banaras.
- (d) A Rare Coin of Kumaragupta I—Hon'ble Dr. Sampurnananda Commemoration Volume, Kalpi.
- (e) Jaina Sculptures from Rajghat—Chanda Bai Commemoration Volume, Arrah.
- (f) A Peep into the Mammal Gallery, Provincial Museum, Lucknow—Prani Shastra, Lucknow.
- (g) A Peep into Bird Gallery, Provincial Museum, Lucknow—Prani Shastra, Lucknow.

Towards the close of the year under orders of the Hon'ble Minister for Education, Sri Nagar compiled and published a Booklet on the "Progress and working of the museums in Uttar Pradesh" for the information of the members of the upper and lower houses of the legislature.

13. Visitors—The number of visitors during the year was 2,94,273 as against 2,93,165 of the past year, the daily average being 806. The highest number being on Ganga Ashnan Day was 18,697. Visitors to the Archaeological Section numbered 36,192. During the year under review His Excellency Sri Bidhu Shekhar Malik, Governor of United Provinces, was gracious enough to pay a visit to the Provincial Museum, Lucknow, and was taken round by the Curator. His Excellency was very much impressed with the rich collection and was pleased to record the following remarks in the Visitors' Book:

"The Provincial Museum has a very valuable collection of old coins, paintings, pottery and other things. I was very interested in all that I saw. The Curator, Mr. M. M. Nagar, seems to have real enthusiasm for his work".

Other distinguished visitors who graced the museum by their visits, were: Hon'ble Dr. Sampurnanandji, D.LITT., Minister for Education, U. P., Dr. A. S. Altekar, D.LITT., Professor and Head of the Department of Ancient Indian History and Culture, Patna University, Patna; His Excellency Sri Noury Esfandiary, Iranian Ambassador in India; His Lordship Sri H. J. Kania, Chief Justice of India and Dr. K. C. Garde, I.M. & S., Poona.

14. General—Sri M. M. Nagar, the Curator, was out in camp for about ten weeks during the year. He attended the meeting of the Managing Committee of the Municipal Museum, Faizabad. His visits to Banaras, Azamgarh, Basti and Mathura districts were very fruitful in the acquisition of a number of coins, sculptures terracottas, seals and other archaeological material mentioned in the report. He accompanied Dr. Atma Ram, Director, Central Glass Research Institute, Jadavpur, Calcutta, to Kopia—the site of the ancient glass factory—and discussed with him various problems connected with the technique of glass making in ancient India. He attended the session of Indian History Congress as also the meetings of the Numismatic Society and Museum Association of India at Cuttack.

Sri Nagar has been appointed Secretary of the Uttar Pradesh Museums Advisory Board and has taken charge of his new office amidst his heavy pre-occupations. Sri Nagar has as usual shown great enthusiasm for his work and I cannot do better than close this report by repeating my deep appreciation of his hard work which has resulted in the development of the Provincial Museum of which he is the very life and soul.
